 Brief Summary:

Need two separate websites that are not similar in appearance. Both sites are for US bankruptcy attorneys. Each website needs a home page that relies more heavily on graphics and guidance into the website, plus an internal page layout to be used as a template. Animation on home page is okay, but keep it to a minimum. Sites need to be at least 98% W3C compliant. Code must be search engine friendly. After layout is selected, I will add copy, etc.

Client 1 does not want "personalization" with his photograph, etc. This website will appear more like a corporate law firm.

Client 2 wants personalization with his photograph. This website will appear more like an individual attorney's website.

I need not less than three mock-ups for each client (total of six). Extensive copy is not required beyond the obvious that relates to an attorney.

Requirements Interview Answers:

To help you bid more accurately, the employer was interviewed about the requirements for this project. Below are their answers.

Project Type:	What kind of work do you need done? Software related (Includes desktop applications and internet websites)
Project Parts:	What do you want the worker to do on this project? Requirements: The worker will analyze the problem and propose a software-based solution to the problem. Programming: The worker will take the requirements and translate them into the language of the computer (and test it).
Req. Doc. Type:	What kind of documentation do you want for this project? Informal documentation - As the employer talks back and forth about the project with the worker, those conversations become the requirements. Remember to communicate ALL of the details of your project on the vWorker.com site. If you don't, and there is a dispute, then important details of the contract will not be documented and cannot be taken into account in arbitration. If you feel you MUST go onsite (for example, using the phone or IM) then afterwards post everything onsite and get the other party to post that they agree to those contractual terms.
Program Type:	What kind of software should the worker create (and/or install)?  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● An internet web-site: This software runs on a web server and users will access it using their internet browser.</li> </ul>
Internet web-site info
Design and functionality:	What does the programming of this project involve?  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Design: Create the layout of the pages (or modify the layout of existing pages). <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● Program Functionality: Making the website "work".</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Modeling another site:	Do you wish to model another site? No
Size of website:	How many pages need to be created/edited in this website? Exactly 2.
Programming Language:	What programming language(s) do you want your website written in? I don't know what language (and need the worker's assistance to suggest it). Other info:
Database:	Will this project include a database? No, it does not include a database.
Browser Type(s)/Version(s):	Which browser/version combinations must this website support?  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● IE 8.0</li> <li>● IE 7.0</li> <li>● Firefox 3.6</li> </ul>

- Firefox 3.0
- Safari 41

Server Hosting Environment:

What is your server hosting environment?
 I have a server at a 3rd party hosting company.
 The name of the hosting company is: Yahoo
 The server's shared/dedicated status is: Shared with other people.

Component Compatibility Protection:

Sometimes a worker may create features on the website that rely on components which work fine on their own server, but won't work with your 3rd party hosting company's server. There are many reasons for this including version incompatibility, restricted permissions, etc... vWorker.com normally requires that the worker verify in advance that your 3rd party hosting provider will support the components. If they do not, then they are responsible for any incompatibilities, rather than you. Do you want this protection on your project? Yes, I require the worker to query my hosting company in advance, to ensure that they support all components which the worker uses in the final solution (including supporting the anticipated version #s, allowing components to run under their potentially restricted security model, etc.)

Server Hosting Environment:

Will the worker develop "live" on your server?
 No. The worker is responsible for creating their own development and/or qc environment.

- Legal:
- 1) I require complete and fully-functional working program(s) in executable form as well as complete source code of all work done (so that I may modify it in the future).
  - 2) Deliverables must be in ready-to-run condition as follows (depending on the nature of the deliverables):
    - 2a) All other software (including but not limited to any desktop software or software the employer intends to distribute) must include a software installation package that will install the software in ready-to-run condition on the platform(s) specified in this project (unless specified elsewhere by the Employer).
    - 3) All deliverables will be considered "work made for hire" under U.S. Copyright law. Employer will receive exclusive and complete copyrights to all work purchased.
    - 3b) No part of the deliverable may contain any copyright restricted 3rd party components (including GPL, GNU, Copyleft, etc.) unless all copyright ramifications are explained AND AGREED TO by the employer on the site per the worker's Worker Legal Agreement.

 Detailed Requirements:

- Worker: On pay-for-deliverable projects, all deliverables must be uploaded to vWorker.com before the deadline(s)...with no exceptions. If this contract makes it impossible to do this (for example if it is for a service that cannot be uploaded), then do not start this project. Otherwise, you may find yourself unprotected by the payment guarantee. Instead, ask the employer to switch this project to pay-for-time, so you are guaranteed payment. If the employer will not switch this, then please alert us. (Click here for more details...)
- Remember that contacting the other party outside of the site (by email, phone, etc.) on all business projects < $500 (before the employer's money is escrowed) is a violation of both the employer and worker agreements. vWorker.com monitors all site activity for such violations and can instantly expel transgressors on the spot, so we thank you in advance for your cooperation. If you notice a violation please help out the site and report it. Thanks for your help.

 Categories:

- The categories were created by the employer, but sometimes mistakes occur. If any of these categories are incorrect, please report it and let us know.
- Like everything else on this page, these categories are part of the original contract for this project.

Web development, Requirements, Other (Technology), Technology

 Expert Guarantee Required:

It is crucial to the employer that this entire project be completed (100%) by the deadline of 4 days. They only want expert workers who will commit themselves to this deadline to bid. If you are not an expert or unable to commit completely to the deadline, then DO NOT BID on this project.

If you are an expert and can commit, the employer would like you to demonstrate this by making an Expert Guarantee of at least 20% of your bid. (This would not need to be made now...but only if and when you are selected as the winning bidder). If you complete the job (100% by the deadline), then your deposit would be refunded to you. If you do not, then you would forfeit the deposit and it would go to cover the employer's cancellation charge and the remainder donated to a non-profit charity.

Please note that depending on how you choose to make the deposit, there may be a small, non-refundable processing fee. This fee can be reduced or eliminated by choosing a less expensive method of payment. Or, you may wish to ask the employer to cover the cost of the fee for you. You can do this in a number of ways such as: increasing the price of your bid, asking the employer to post a 2nd project to cover it (contingent on completion of the project), or by getting the employer to promise to pay the fee to you as a bonus (upon completion of the project). If you choose the bonus route, just remember that due to credit card/PayPal rules, vWorker.com CANNOT force an employer to pay a bonus involuntarily...even when promised on-site. So don't choose this option, unless you trust the employer, or are willing to take a small risk.

This is just a very brief overview of how the Expert Guarantee works and there are many more details that you need to understand fully before you bid on this project. DO NOT BID on this project until you've read and fully understand everything about the Expert Guarantee (including reading the contract and the FAQs).

 Brief Summary:*Online US Chapter 7 Bankruptcy Means Calculator

Purpose of online calculator is to determine if the user is eligible for Chapter 7 or must file for Chapter 13 reorganization, presenting different results page copy depending upon results.

 Requirements Interview Answers:

To help you bid more accurately, the employer was interviewed about the requirements for this project. Below are their answers.

Project Type: What kind of work do you need done?
Software related (Includes desktop applications and internet websites)

Project Parts: What do you want the worker to do on this project?

Requirements: The worker will analyze the problem and propose a software-based solution to the problem.

Programming: The worker will take the requirements and translate them into the language of the computer (and test it).

User installation: The installer will move the software from the place it was created (which is called the development or QC environment) to where you will use it (which is called the production environment). The installer then tests the software to make sure that the installation was done properly and completely.

Req. Doc. Type: What kind of documentation do you want for this project?
Informal documentation - As the employer talks back and forth about the project with the worker, those conversations become the requirements. Remember to communicate ALL of the details of your project on the vWorker.com site. If you don't, and there is a dispute, then important details of the contract will not be documented and cannot be taken into account in arbitration. If you feel you MUST go offsite (for example, using the phone or IM) then afterwards post everything onsite and get the other party to post that they agree to those contractual terms.

Program Type: What kind of software should the worker create (and/or install)?

- An internet web-site: This software runs on a web server and users will access it using their internet browser.

Internet web-site info

Design and functionality: What does the programming of this project involve?

- Program Functionality: Making the website "work".

Modeling another site: Do you wish to model another site? No

Size of website: How many pages need to be created/edited in this website?
I don't know.

Other info: To be integrated into existing website.

Programming Language: What programming language(s) do you want your website written in?
I don't know what language (and need the worker's assistance to suggest it).

Other info: Language that is most compatible and simple is fine.

Database: Will this project include a database?

Yes, it does include a database.

Details:

- Other -- version(s): I'll let you decide.

Browser Type(s)/Version(s): Which browser/version combinations must this website support?

- IE 8.0
- IE 7.0
- Firefox 3.6
- Firefox 3.0

- Safari 41

- Server Hosting Environment: What is your server hosting environment?
I don't know and need the worker to suggest a 3rd party hosting company server.
Details: I will need hosting server requirement recommendations.
- Server Hosting Environment: Will the worker develop "live" on your server?
No. The worker is responsible for creating their own development and/or qc environment.
- Physical installation: Who will perform the physical installation?
The worker will perform the physical installation, and will be given all necessary permissions to do so.
- Legal: 1) I require complete and fully-functional working program(s) in executable form as well as complete source code of all work done (so that I may modify it in the future).
2) Deliverables must be in ready-to-run condition as follows (depending on the nature of the deliverables):
2a) Any website server-side deliverables must be installed by the Worker in ready-to-run condition in the Employer's environment.
2b) All other software (including but not limited to any desktop software or software the employer intends to distribute) must include a software installation package that will install the software in ready-to-run condition on the platform(s) specified in this project (unless specified elsewhere by the Employer).
3) All deliverables will be considered "work made for hire" under U.S. Copyright law. Employer will receive exclusive and complete copyrights to all work purchased.
3b) No part of the deliverable may contain any copyright restricted 3rd party components (including GPL, GNU, Copyleft, etc.) unless all copyright ramifications are explained AND AGREED TO by the employer on the site per the worker's Worker Legal Agreement.

Other Requirements:

User will input four variables; zip code, number of persons in household, user's gross average monthly income ("GAMI"), entire household GAMI. Calculator will provide the annual household income, whether or not the user passes the means test alone, whether or not the household income passes the means test, the median income amount that would allow the user to pass, the median income amount that would allow the household to pass, and the city and county in which they reside.

Source of calculation is the U.S. Trustee Program (http://www.justice.gov/ust/eo/bapcpa/20101101/bci\_data/median\_income\_table.htm), Department of Justice, 11 U.S.C. Only zip codes that are all or partially located in the following California counties are required: Siskiyou, Modoc, Trinity, Shasta, Lassen, Tehama, Plumas, Glenn, Butte, Colusa, Sutter, Yuba, Nevada, Sierra, Placer, Eldorado, Yolo, Solano, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Amador, Alpine, and Mono. All zip codes in the US and its territories may be used as a coder's option.

Zip code to county database will be provided by coder, price included in bid.

Calculator will present copy in the results page based upon output variables of:

If the household income passes the means test or not, if the user alone (number in household minus one) passes or not, if the spouse alone (number in household minus one) passes or not.

About Employer LasikExpert

General Information   Work History \(7\)   Control panel

vWorker.com Bid Request History

All ratings (and comments) are protected by a double-blind system to prevent retaliatory ratings and rating exchnages. 3rd party ratings and comments are purely the opinion of the poster and do not reflect the official view of vWorker.com in any way.

Future employers and workers have a right to know if a cancellation or reduction in payment occurs. On those occasions, the prevailing party often offers a "trade" to the at-fault party, and agrees NOT to place a bad rating in exchange for a concession of some sort. While vWorker.com cannot stop this practice, it also cannot allow it to taint the integrity of the rating system. To prevent this from happening, vWorker.com arbitrators can and do indicate when a cancellation or reduction in payment occurs by placing their own rating and comment on the party they believe to be at-fault (per both the Employer and Worker agreements). Arbitrators are denoted with the words (vWorker) after their name. This may cause an item to appear twice so that both ratings will be visible.

(Arbitration/mediation result):

Egyptian Worker (the worker) agreed in their Worker Contract that if their project went into arbitration, they would respond to the arbitrator's questions fully and on a timely basis, or they would forfeit the arbitration. An arbitration occurred and Egyptian Worker did not do this. All funds in escrow were returned to LasikExpert (the employer).
